About The Indian Institute of Welding (IIW-India)

The Indian Institute of Welding (IIW-India) is a premier professional body of welding fraternity, devoted to the promotion and advancement of welding science and technology. It was established on 22nd April 1966, with its registered office at Kolkata. Presently IIW-India is having 14 branches and several Students' Chapters all over India. It has about 4500 members & over 150 industries as Industrial Corporate Members. IIW-India publishes Indian Welding Journal, which has technical research papers of high standards. IIW-India is a member society of the International Institute of Welding, and has acquired the status of Authorised Nominated Body (ANB) to award internationally accredited professional Diplomas such as International Welding Engineer (IWE), International Welding Technologist (IWT) etc., and also acquired the status of Authorized Nominated Body for Company Certification (ANBCC) to certify Industries as per ISO 3834. IIW-India also conducts its own welder certification programme, under National Welding Training and Certification Scheme (NWTCS) and National Welding Inspectors' Certification Scheme (NWICS).

About the Organizers - The Indian Institute of Welding (IIW-India), Baroda Branch

The IIW-India Baroda Branch was founded on 29th August, 1998 and has strength of about 600 members. It is one of the largest branch of all branches in India with second highest members of all branches. IIW-India Baroda Branch is one of the most active branches covering entire Gujarat State. It regularly organizes Seminars, Conferences, Workshops, Technical Lectures, Certificate Courses on WPS-PQR, Welding Inspector Course, Visual Inspection, Industrial Visits, National Events, best welder competition etc. Baroda Branch has received IIW India Best Performing Branch Award for 6 years. Baroda Branch Managing Committee consists of highly dedicated, motivated and experienced team of personnel drawn from various industries & academic institutions. To upgrade knowledge of young minds, IIW-India Baroda Branch has started five student chapters in to develop the bridge between industry & academia i.e. at ITM SLS Baroda University, Parul University Baroda, PDEU Gandhinagar (Best Performing Students Chapter - 2019-20 & 2020-21), Marwadi University Rajkot, SVNIT at Surat. Theme of Foundation Day

Innovative Welding Solutions for Advanced Materials: Current Challenges & Future Trends

About the Seminar

There do exist a challenge and sophistication in joining advanced materials like rare earth metals and other challenging materials like composites, intermetallic compounds etc. These materials offer exceptional properties like high strength to weight ratios, superior temperature resistance and other unique properties. These very properties which make them desirable also make them difficult to join using conventional welding methods. The likely problems joining these materials can be extreme reactivity, brittle intermetallics, thermal sensitivity, residual stress and properties mismatch. In order to cater to needs of higher performance in industries like aerospace, energy, defence and medical technology, these materials and their joining are worthy of attention in the present global technological progressive scenario.

The joining of these advanced materials is less of a manual craft and more of a material science discipline where emphasis lay on Atmosphere, Energy input, Solid State process and Metallurgical compatibility. As these materials become more critical to technological progress, the advanced welding techniques that enable their use will continue to evolve, becoming more automated, more precise and more integrated. The choice of materials and their joining in high technology applications is what enables the technology to exist. The advanced welding techniques that make these incredible materials to be assembled into the complex components that power our most critical technologies.

This seminar aims to provide an awareness and a learning stage as to how innovation/advances in welding enable the adoption of advanced materials across aerospace, automotive, defense, and energy sectors, for more resilient, lightweight, and service efficient structures in the future.

The Indian Institute of Welding - Baroda Branch, since last 27 years has been an apt platform bringing forth the talent of Welding fraternity to share knowledge on the prevailing theme.

IIW-India Baroda branch is celebrating the 27th Foundation day on October 4th, 2025, at Vadodara. The branch intends to hold Technical presentations on the seminar theme by eminent experts from various industries/institutions in the field of welding.

A whole hearted support is expected from Members, industry delegates, student members, industries, institutions by way of sponsoring, advertisements, delegates nomination, to make this event a grand success.
